

The background of the slide is a wide-angle photograph of the Coconuco Hot Springs. It shows a valley with several turquoise-colored hot springs and streams flowing through a landscape of green vegetation and dark volcanic rocks. In the distance, there are dark, forested mountains under a sky filled with white, fluffy clouds. A wooden boardwalk or path is visible in the lower left, winding through the landscape.

In the high lands of Cauca, there are sacred indigenous lands of coconuco, which I want to know because it is highlighted by the Puracé National Park. Puracé National Park, are active volcanoes that spit yellowish smoke, it is hot water.

It is said to be the highest epic within its limits. it is one of the most active volcanoes in the country. you can walk to the summit as it reaches an exorbitant height, is on the sides of popayan place that is also very good.

The Andean paramos are covered with a carpet of frailejones and vegetables that contrasts with the dry landscape of the peaks above.

It also has many spas, to be able to enjoy much better of the delitions waters of the thermal ones since there are piscinas and much wild faina and they are pure and natural waters, acts for a good bath.
